

From my point of view, this is not about "privacy" as that word is commonly used. It is about preventing time & resources being wasted trying to sell where there is no market, which is a lose-lose proposition.